

The Daily Courant.

Friday, August 28. 1713.

London, August 28.

Yesterday arrived two Mails from Holland.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Aug. 29.

Constantinople, July 17.

TH.E. King of Sweden continues near Adrianople, and incites this Nation to confirm King Stanislaus on the Throne of Poland; promising in that Case not only to cause Caminiec with great Part of Podolia to be restored to this Empire, but to procure an Annual Tribute to be paid to the Porte. This has made such an Impression on the Grand Signior, who is very capricious, that the 11th of this Month he deposed the Reis Effendi, or Chancellor of the Empire; and sent for Machud Effendi, who was Kadilestier of Romelia, to come Post to supply the Room of the Musti, who was likewise deposed the 14th, as the principal Instrument of the Peace with Muscovy, and who most endeavoured to prevent the above-mentioned Designs. The Palatine of Mazovia, Ambassador extraordinary of Poland, continues close confined and watched, nor could he be permitted to speak to the Secretary of the Dutch Ambassador, who was at Adrianople upon some Affairs relating to Trade. Last Week a Fire broke out here which did incredible Damage, above 15000 Houses being laid in Ashes.

Warsaw, Aug. 12. Some Days ago was discovered a Conspiracy formed by some Palatines and Officers of the Crown, who were to deliver King Augustus into the Hands of Stanislaus, when his Majesty should be on his Journey to the Army of the Crown: The Palatine of Russia is seized, so is a Scotch Merchant, under whose Cover that Palatine received his Letters from Bender: Diligent Search is making for the other Accomplices. The Discovery of this Conspiracy is attributed to M. Pauli, the King's Closet-Secretary, who was tempted to engage in the Plot, and who feigning to consent to it, by that means found out the whole Intrigue, of which he gave Information to his Majesty. Upon this Information the King has thought fit to send Order to the Saxon Troops to come to Poland, and to invite the Muscovite General to come likewise with his Troops. 'Tis advised from Lemberg and Caminiec, that Stanislaus was arrived on the Frontier, and was there assembling all the Troops very diligently, to join a flying Body of Tartars who had advanced beyond Bender, with Design to invade Poland: Some Advices say the Turks have resolved to attack Caminiec.

Dantzick, Aug. 19. Within these 8 or 10 Days, a Discovery has been made at Warsaw of a great Conspiracy against the King's Person, and the Conspirators, who are great Lords of the Kingdom, have been seized and carried to Kotzigstein. Yesterday and to Day all the Polish Lords of the same Party, have by Order from the King been seized here, with their Wives and Children, and they are likewise carried away for Saxony: Which causes a great Consternation among us.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Sept. 1.

Warsaw, Aug. 13. M. Jablanowsky, Palatine of Russia, who was taken into Custody the 8th of this Month, is eldest Son of the late great Marshal of the Army of the Crown: He is to be examined, as is also his Secretary, by Commissioners appointed by the King and by the Republick. Some other Persons of Quality are put under Confinement. Certain intercepted Letters are decyphring, and some of them give great Light as to the Designs of the Ottoman Porte against this Kingdom. An Express is arrived from Caminiec, with an Account that the Turks and Tartars were advancing towards the Frontier; and that the Palatine of Kiovia was likewise on the March to execute some Design. 'Twas said the King of Sweden was returned to the Camp at Bender, accompanied by 3 or 6 Bashaws or Generals of the Ottoman Army. In the mean time the main Body of the Crown-Army had drawn together in the Neighbourhood of Caminiec, to observe the Motions of the Turks: The Count de Seniawski, Great General, was expected there the 9th of this Month, with his Lieutenant-General. We have every Day new Particulars of the Distresses occasioned by the overflowing of the Vistula: M. Karwicki, Castellain of Zawichow, who was passing that River at Lublin in his Coach and six Horses, was drowned with some Servants. We are expecting some Saxon Troops from Pomerania.

Vienna, Aug. 19. Letters from Segedin of the 13th of this Month, relate, that Osman Aga of Temiswar, had received Advice that the Turks had passed the Danube to the Number of 80000 Men; and that the Muscovite Army under General Czeremethoff was encamped within some Leagues of Bender to observe them. The Turks have deposed their Musti, for what Cause is not yet known. We have an Account from Warsaw, that the King of Poland has caused M. Jablonowski, Palatine of Russia, to be put under Arrest, as also his Secretary, and some others who had conspired against his Polish Majesty's Person, and held Correspondence with his Enemies and the Adherents of Sweden. His Polish Majesty had ordered all Letters by Post to be stopped, for discovering the other Accomplices. They write from Lemberg, that the Turkish Army was come and encamped near Chocim, with King Stanislaus and his Adherents, but 'twas not known whether his Swedish Majesty was there likewise, or whether he continued near Adrianople.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Sept. 1.

Warsaw, Aug. 15. The King has received this Morning a new Express from Count Simiawski, Great-General of the Army of the Crown, which confirms the March of the Turks and Tartars towards the Frontier; adding, that their Army had actually passed the River Pruth, and that the Vanguard was advanced to the Neighbourhood of Chocim, with Design to lay Bridges over the Danube. 'Tis true, some Advices say the Bashaws who command the Turkish Troops are not agreed what Enterprise to go upon; some being for making an Invasion immediately into Poland, and others for suspending all Acts of Hostility till the Turkish Commissary who is on the Frontier has delivered his Propositions to the Republick, and received his Answers thereupon: but as that Commissary will be backed in his Propositions by a formidable Army, 'tis probable they will be exorbitant, and not fit to be accepted: Wherefore we are preparing to make Head against the Turks, and the King has determined to set out within 10 or 12 Days to put himself at the Head of the Army. The Palatine of Russia is kept close confined still: One of his intercepted Letters shews that he gave the following Advice to his Friends at Bender: "That 'tis now the properest Time to surprize the King, while he thought himself in perfect Safety here, and suspected no Designs; and that he had disposed all things so well, that his Majesty's Person could not escape his Hands. That Palatine has since voluntarily confessed all, probably in Hopes to obtain his Pardon: He has also put into the King's Hands a Journal of all his Intrigues for a Year past, according to which the Conspiracy formed against his Majesty's Person was to be executed the 25th of this Month; which gives Ground to believe the Turks have not put themselves on the March without secret Intelligence of what was hatching, but designing to support the Adherents of King Stanislaus had the Conspiracy been executed; this is the more likely, because some Advices from Adrianople assure us the King of Sweden had promised the Turks, that in Case they could re-establish the said Stanislaus on the Throne of Poland, he would yield up to them Caminiec with Part of Podolia, and pay them an annual Tribute.

Hambourg,

Humburg, Aug. 25. We have an Account from Poland, that King Augustus has sent for almost all his Saxon Troops thither to join the Army of the Crown, and oppose the Turks who would reinstate King Stanislaus on the Throne: But 'tis thought these will change their Sentiments, when they shall know that the Plot against that Prince is discovered. We learn from Dantzick, that by Order of the King of Poland, the Wives of the Palatine of Kiovia and of General Smigielski have been seized there and conveyed to Marienbourg; together with M. Caernochowski Treasurer of King Stanislaus, M. Urbanowski his Secretary, and divers other Polish Lords, accused of being Accessories in the Conspiracy against his Polish Majesty.

PARIS.

The King's Letter to the Cardinal de Noailles, Archbishop of Paris, ordering Te Deum to be sung in the Cathedral, in Thanksgiving for the taking of Landau by his Majesty's Troops.

Cousin,
I hoped that after having used all Means for effecting a general Peace, my Plenipotentiaries assembled at Utrecht with those of the Allies would not separate without concluding it. In fact, the Offers which they made on my part, and those of my Grandson the King of Spain, were acknowledged to be so just and advantageous by the Plenipotentiaries with whom I was at War, that they judged they could not do better than accept them; the House of Austria alone, tho' it found Advantages equally convenient that were proposed to it, broke off all Negotiation, and obliged me against my Will to continue the War. In that Necessity I assembled my Army, and judged that the Operations of the Campaign could not begin more usefully than by the Siege of Landau. The Enemy knowing the Importance of that Place, had forgot nothing to put it into a State of Defence, and had augmented the Fortifications of it by a considerable Number of Works; but the Valour of my Officers and Troops, which could not be checked by the Resistance of the Besieged, nor by the Effects of their Mines and Poudreux, has rendered all Precautions fruitless; the Place has been obliged to surrender after fifty six Days open Trenches; and 12 Battalions of which the Garrison consisted, are made Prisoners of War. This happy Success gives me Ground to expect yet greater, and to hope that my Enemies, seeing the fatal Consequences of their Refusal, will at length open their Eyes to their true Interests: But as God alone can inspire into them the Spirit of Peace and Reconciliation, we must in rendering him Thanks for the new Advantages with which he is pleased to favour the Justice of my Cause, beseech him to vouchsafe to complete his Work, by procuring for all Europe solid and lasting Repose, which is the only Object of my Desire. For these Causes &c.
